Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2021, the NBI Canadian Bond Private Portfolio's Advisior Series units returned -3.72% compared to -3.46% for the Fund's benchmark, the FTSE Canada Universe Bond Index (CAD). Unlike the benchmark, the Fund's performance is calculated after fees and expenses. Please see the Past Performance section for the returns of all of the Fund's series, which may vary mainly because of fees and expenses.

Certain series of the Fund, as applicable, may make distributions at a rate determined by the manager. This rate may change from time to time. If the aggregate amount of distributions in such series exceeds the portion of net income and net realized capital gains allocated to such series, the excess will constitute a return of capital. The manager does not believe that the return of capital distributions made by such series of the Fund have a meaningful impact on the Fund's ability to implement its investment strategy or to fulfill its investment objective.

The Fund's net asset value rose by 26.40% over the period, from $3.723 billion as at December 31, 2020 to $4.706 billion as at June 30, 2021. The increase stemmed mainly from unit purchases by investors in the Fund.

Risk assets continued where they left off at the end of the year and pushed higher throughout the first quarter. Vaccinations and re-openings especially in the U.S. drove risk assets even higher throughout the second quarter, but bond markets reversed direction.

In the first half of the year, global bond markets sold off significantly after the U.S. approved a massive $1.9 trillion fiscal package at the beginning of the year, forcing fixed-income investors to quickly adjust their expectations higher for both growth and inflation. The yield curve steepened as central banks were in no hurry to take their foot off the gas pedal. As time progressed, short term rates increased significantly, and the long end rallied causing the curve to flatten.

Economic growth in the U.S. is currently very strong but supply constraints are causing shortages in labor, supplies and goods. Jobs are still down 6.8 million from their pre-COVID levels, putting little pressure on the Fed. However, there are now 7 of 18 FOMC members expecting a rate hike by the end of 2022. New COVID variants are spreading globally and are causing some concerns leading to new stay-at-home orders and restrictions in some countries.

Conversely, the Canadian economy had started picking up in the first quarter following the rollout of vaccines and easing of restrictions. However, it slowed down in the second quarter on the back of the new lockdowns associated with the third wave. With vaccinations now proceeding much faster and plans to lift restrictions over the summer, the economy is set to have a very strong recovery, led by consumer spending. Rising global demand and higher commodity prices will also help Canadian exports. Inflation has increased to 3% but is expected to ease later in the year. The weekly net asset purchases by the Bank of Canada of government bonds were reduced to $3 billion from $4 billion in April.

The best performing corporate sectors were Financials and Securitization while Infrastructure and Communications lagged. Corporate bonds have outperformed federals, municipals and provincials compared to the broad market in the last six months.

Under these circumstances, the Fund underperformed its benchmark. Being overweight corporate and municipal bonds was a source of value added, as they outperformed Canadian fixed income instruments on the whole in the first half of 2021.

Spread movements positively impacted performance while duration positioning held back some value added. An overweight in Financials added value in the first half and security selection within the Energy sector was also beneficial to the Fund's returns. In contrast, selection in Financials and Communications was more of a hindrance.

Recent Developments

During the last six months, the portfolio manager increased the Fund's exposure to federal securities while reducing exposure to corporate, provincial and municipal bonds. The portfolio manager greatly increased the weighting toward AAA-rated bonds and reduced the weighting in A-rated bonds. In contrast, he reduced the Fund's weighting to Financials and Real Estate.

The Fund maintains an underweight position in federal bonds while remaining overweight in municipals and corporates. However, the portfolio manager has significantly increased the position in federals while shifting away from corporates during the first half of 2021. The Fund has a slightly longer duration than the index.

In Canada, a substantial portion of the population has now received at least one dose and the second dose is being rolled out faster than previously expected. The portfolio manager continues to maintain his thesis on the reopening of the economy, with the U.S. leading the way and Canada on track to reach substantial herd immunity during the summer, which will enable a reopening and a boom in the economy. Fiscal and monetary policy will also support this powerful recovery. Inflation has gone higher this year and although the portfolio manager expects it to decline over the medium term, he believes inflationary risks are skewed to the upside due to the strength of the economy and supply chain disruptions caused by the virus. Central banks are also expected to reduce bond purchases later in the year. As a result, the Fund is still positioned for higher yields and a steeper curve. The portfolio manager continues to maintain a modest overweight position in credit, which should perform well as the economy reopens. However, the portfolio manager is being very selective, focusing on names that still have value.

On April 30, 2021, the Fund's independent review committee (the "IRC") was reduced to three members when Yves Julien resigned as IRC member. On May 1, 2021, the Fund's IRC was increased to four members when Paul Béland was appointed as IRC member.

On May 17, 2021, National Bank Investments Inc. ("NBI") announced the results of the proposals voted upon at the special meetings of securityholders of certain NBI Funds held on that day. The proposed fund mergers were part of a series of initiatives that seek to ensure a more streamlined NBI Fund line-up to provide investors with a comprehensive, more clearly defined range of investment products.

Therefore, the NBI Canadian Diversified Bond Private Portfolio and the NBI Municipal Bond Plus Private Portfolio merged with the NBI Canadian Bond Private Portfolio on or about May 28, 2021. To facilitate the merger, the Series PWO-2 of this Fund was launched on March 23, 2021 and is generally not available for new purchases.

Furthermore, the investment decisions must represent the business judgment of the securities advisor, uninfluenced by considerations other than the best interest of the Fund and must achieve a fair and reasonable result for the Fund.

General administration services, trailer fees and sale commissions paid to brokers are covered by the PWM’s service fees, which are paid directly by investors.

Past Performance

The performance of each series of the Fund is presented below and calculated as at December 31 of each year. It assumes that all distributions made in the periods shown were reinvested in additional securities and does not take into account sales, redemption charges, distributions, or optional charges that would have reduced returns. Past performance of a series of a Fund does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Annual Returns

The bar charts indicate the performance for each the Fund's series in existence greater than one year during the years shown, and illustrate how the performance has changed from year to year. They show, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on January 1 (or made commencing from the start of the series) would have grown or decreased by December 31 of that year, or by June 30, as applicable.

⁽⁴⁾ This information is derived from the Fund's Annual Audited Financial Statements and Interim Unaudited Financial Statements. The net assets per unit presented in the financial statements might differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. The differences are explained in the notes to the financial statements.

⁽²⁾ Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase or decrease from operations is based on the average number of units outstanding over the accounting period.
