Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The NBI Canadian Bond Index Fund's investment objective is to generate income and long-term capital growth by replicating the performance of the Morningstar® Canada Liquid Bond Index, an index of Canadian government and corporate bonds.

The portfolio manager follows a passive investment strategy designed to replicate the performance of Morningstar® Canada Liquid Bond Index.

Risks

The global investment risk of the Fund remains as described in the simplified prospectus or any amendments thereto and Fund Facts.

Results of Operations

For the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2020, the NBI Canadian Bond Index Fund's Series O units returned 8.74% compared to 8.79% for the Fund's benchmark, the Morningstar® Canada Liquid Bond Index™ (CAD). Unlike the benchmark, the Fund's performance is calculated after fees and expenses.

The Fund's net asset value declined by 93.74% over the period, from $1.049 billion as at December 31, 2019 to $65.69 million as at December 31, 2020. The decline stemmed mainly from withdrawals from the Fund by other NBI Funds.

After a start marked by the emergence of a global pandemic and the fastest stock market plunge in history, 2020 ended with a third consecutive quarter of strong gains for risk assets. Overall, these twelve months have witnessed extreme variations between asset classes - especially in the first quarter. Nonetheless, both the stock and bond markets generally ended 2020 in positive territory, as lower interest rates led to significant gains for fixed income securities while supporting the economic and stock market recovery.

In this context, the S&P/TSX Index ended the year with a solid gain, after having rebounded sharply from a decline of more than 20% in March. Performance in 2020 was driven mainly by the Information Technology and Materials sectors while Real estate and Energy posted the lowest returns. During the last few weeks of the year, we also witnessed a sector rotation in favour of the cyclical sectors that were lagging at the beginning of the year. Merger and acquisition activity also picked up nicely and many small caps became takeover targets from private equity funds as the abundance and low cost of capital is starting to get deployed. The initial public offering (IPO) market also continued to shine as investor demand was impressive for newly listed companies. Meanwhile, Canadian Small Caps outperformed their large-cap peers. The Materials and Consumer Staples sectors were the best performers while the Energy and Health Care sectors lagged.

For their part, the majority of fixed-income markets managed to post gains, as bond yields ended the period lower. In this tumultuous and unprecedented market environment, investment grade corporate and sovereign bonds figured among the best performing asset classes for the year, followed by emerging and high-yield bonds.

The FTSE Canada Universe Bond index posted a strong absolute return for 2020. Municipal and provincial bonds, for their part, outperformed corporate and federal bonds. However, the big winners for the period were long-term issues, which outperformed those with short and medium-term maturities. Among corporate bonds, BBB-rated issuers also stood out in comparison to higher rated issuers. On a sector basis, Infrastructure and Communications outperformed other sectors while securitized securities and financial sector-related securities lagged behind.

On the preferred equity front, the launch of a new type of notes that are eligible for Tier 1 capital funding for Canadian banks, was a game changer for preferred shares and helped the asset class end the year in positive territory. As such, banks may be tempted to redeem some of their preferred shares to launch more Limited Recourse Capital Notes (LRCNs), at a cheaper cost in the next quarters. If investors need to replace them, and the demand is higher than the volume of new preferred shares issues, it may help support the market too. These factors combined with the strong credit tone and more stable interest rates during the second half of the year were also beneficial for this asset class.

Given this context, the NBI Canadian Bond Index Fund underperformed its benchmark in 2020. The Fund aims to reproduce the returns of the Morningstar® Canada Liquid Bond Index (CAD).

Recent Developments

The portfolio manager expects the new business cycle to carry on, strengthened by the gradual inoculation of the world's population and supported by monetary conditions arguably more accommodative than ever before. It is undeniable that growth will slow down early in the year, whereas a considerable increase in the number of COVID-19 cases forces the maintenance of restrictive containment measures. However, the vaccination campaign should provide immunization for the vast majority of the most-at-risk population in developed countries by the end of March and takes us near herd immunity midyear. As a result, the pace of growth is expected to accelerate starting in Q2, driven by a gradual and permanent reopening of the economy, a rise in consumer sentiment, and a recovery in the service sector. All in all, this background argues in favour of a pro-risk stance, which he increased one step further in early December, and plan to build up gradually over the course of the year as opportunities arise. He will, however, continue to closely monitor key risks to our baseline scenario, including the speed at which COVID-19 immunization occurs, the trajectory of inflation, and the policies put forward by the new U.S. administration.

Canadian yields could remain low for an extended period, however, market volatility should result in attractive investment opportunities. Debt securities should continue to stand out, especially if government bond yields remain low. Corporate bond credit spreads will need to be monitored with regard to government bonds.

On April 30, 2020, the Fund's independent review committee (the "IRC") was reduced to three members when Jacques Valotaire and Jean-François Bernier resigned as IRC members. On July 1, 2020, the Fund's IRC was increased to four members when Marie Desroches was appointed as IRC member.

- ⁽¹⁾ This information is derived from the Fund's Annual Audited Financial Statements. The net assets per unit presented in the financial statements might differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. The differences are explained in the notes to the financial statements.
- ⁽²⁾ Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase or decrease from operations is based on the average number of units outstanding over the accounting period.
- ⁽³⁾ Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.
- ⁽⁴⁾ The net assets are calculated in accordance with IFRS.
- ⁽⁵⁾ This information is provided as at the last day of the accounting period shown.
- ⁽⁶⁾ Management expense ratio is based on total expenses including sales taxes for the accounting period indicated (excluding commission, other portfolio transaction costs and withholding taxes) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net value during the accounting period.
- ⁽⁷⁾ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the accounting period. The trading expense ratio includes, if necessary, the trading expenses from its underlying funds, as described in Article 15.2 of Regulation 81-106.
- ⁽⁸⁾ The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund portfolio's manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the accounting period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in an accounting period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the accounting period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the accounting period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
