Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Investment Objective and Strategies

The NBI Canadian Equity Growth Fund aims to provide investors with superior investment returns over the long term, having regard for the safety of capital. The Fund invests in a diversified portfolio of primarily Canadian equities.

The portfolio manager follows a company-focused investment style, seeking companies with strong management, good growth prospects and a solid financial position. Emphasis is placed on paying reasonable prices for the free cash flow growth that companies in the portfolio are expected to achieve. It is expected that investments in foreign securities will not exceed approximately 49% of the Fund's net assets.

Risks

The global investment risk of the Fund remains as described in the simplified prospectus or any amendments thereto and Fund Facts.

Results of Operations

For the twelve-month period ended December 31, 2020, the NBI Canadian Equity Growth Fund's Investor Series units returned 10.49% compared to 5.60% for the Fund's benchmark, the S&P/TSX Composite Index (CAD). Unlike the benchmark, the Fund's performance is calculated after fees and expenses. Please see the Past Performance section for the returns of all of the Fund's series, which may vary mainly because of fees and expenses.

Certain series of the Fund, as applicable, may make distributions at a rate determined by the manager. This rate may change from time to time. If the aggregate amount of distributions in such series exceeds the portion of net income and net realized capital gains allocated to such series, the excess will constitute a return of capital. The manager does not believe that the return of capital distributions made by such series of the Fund have a meaningful impact on the Fund's ability to implement its investment strategy or to fulfill its investment objective.

The Fund's net asset value rose by 4.64% over the period, from $930.82 million as at December 31, 2019 to $974.04 million as at December 31, 2020.

After a start marked by the emergence of a global pandemic and the fastest stock market plunge in history, 2020 ended with a third consecutive quarter of strong gains for risk assets. Overall, these twelve months have witnessed extreme variations between asset classes - especially in the first quarter. Nonetheless, both the stock and bond markets generally ended 2020 in positive territory, as lower interest rates led to significant gains for fixed income securities while supporting the economic and stock market recovery.

Within equity regions, divergences were also quite spectacular, with the U.S. stock market dominating its peers throughout the first three quarters of the year thanks to its heavy allocation to more defensive sectors. That said, emerging markets rallied strongly later in 2020, lifted by a weaker U.S. dollar and the spectacular performance of Asian countries, most of which have managed to quickly contain the pandemic.

In this context, the S&P/TSX Index ended the year with a solid gain, after having rebounded sharply from a decline of more than 20% in March. Performance in 2020 was driven mainly by the Information Technology and Materials sectors while Real estate and Energy posted the lowest returns. During the last few weeks of the year, a sector rotation took place in favour of the cyclical sectors that were lagging at the beginning of the year.

Meanwhile, Canadian Small Caps outperformed their large-cap peers. The Materials and Consumer Staples sectors were the best performers while the Energy and Health Care sectors lagged.

Under these circumstances, the NBI Canadian Equity Growth Fund outperformed its benchmark in 2020. Sector allocation was the principal driver of outperformance, while the stock selection was a moderate tailwind. The Fund maintains no exposure to the Energy sector, which was down 27.6% and was overweight to the Information Technology sector, which benefitted from increasing penetration of e-commerce and work from home trends during COVID-19 and was up 53.5%.

From a sector perspective, stock selection within Consumer Staples, Financials and Real Estate contributed to the outperformance. Stock selection within Industrials, Information Technology and Consumer Discretionary sectors detracted from relative performance.

On an individual security level, the top contributors were FirstService Corp, Jamieson Wellness and Synopsys. CAE, Spin Master, Canada Goose were the top security detractors from performance.

Recent Developments

The Fund's exposure to Communication Services and Health Care decreased over the year, while exposure to Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples increased. During the year, the Fund initiated positions in Alcon, Amphenol, BRP, Equifax, Keysight Technologies, Kinaxis, Metro, Microsoft, Procter and Gamble, Roper Technologies and Thomson Reuters.

The portfolio manager expects the global economy to continue to recover during 2021 as the global deployment of COVID-19 vaccines continues. In his view, economic recovery may lead to rising interest rates which would pressure the housing sector. If this occurs, he would expect a more difficult market environment, particularly during the second half of 2021.

Beyond 2021, it appears that the next decade will see a continuation of the rapid pace of technological change that we saw in the 2010s. A global energy transition is under way, shifting away from fossil fuels and towards renewables. The global transportation sector is expected to increasingly adopt electrification, while there is a rising focus on the greening and mass deployment of hydrogen as a broadly used fuel. 5G wireless technology is expected to be rolled out, creating a steep change in global communications with numerous new applications, particularly in IoT (Internet of Things). The investment team continues to look for investments that will benefit from these secular trends.

As always, the Fund continues to own 30-35 companies that are leaders in their respective niches. The portfolio manager believes each investment will continue to outgrow their peers while showing superior profitability, generating strong free cash flow, and maintaining the balance sheet flexibility necessary to weather difficult economic environments. The investment team has invested through many different cycles and environments in the past and continues to believe that companies with these characteristics, bought at sensible prices, will outperform over time.

On April 30, 2020, the Fund's independent review committee (the "IRC") was reduced to three members when Jacques Valotaire and Jean-François Bernier resigned as IRC members. On July 1, 2020, the Fund's IRC was increased to four members when Marie Desroches was appointed as IRC member.

The variable operating expenses payable by the Manager include, but are not limited to: transfer agency and recordkeeping costs; custodial costs; accounting and valuation fees; audit fees and legal fees; costs of preparing and distributing financial reports, simplified prospectuses, annual information forms, Fund Facts, continuous disclosure material and other securityholder communications; and costs of trustee services relating to registered tax plans, as applicable.

⁽²⁾ Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase or decrease from operations is based on the average number of units outstanding over the accounting period.
